

Granada

...is dominated by the backdrop of the Sierra Nevada mountains and The Alhambra Palace. The intricate Moorish architecture and the elaborately designed and immaculately maintained gardens explain why this is one of Spain's most popular visitor attractions. There are rewarding views of Granada, which is a scenic city with many interesting sights and attractions and a lively nightlife. How about enjoying dinner at a flamenco show, shopping in the African quarter of the city or visiting the cave dwellings?

Beaches

And of course, you are never far away from an array of beaches, from quiet secluded coves to busier resort towns. Even at this time of year, with the Andalucian climate, a dip in the sea or spending time on the beach is not out of the question!

Spain...but not as you know it!!

Casa Buena Vista is a traditional Spanish village cottage, recently restored but full of character, in a remarkable, scenic and atmospheric area of Andalucia. With stunning views from the roof terrace, a wood burning stove, heating throughout and a very cosy feel, it is ideal for a winter break.

It is ideally located being only 40 minutes drive from uncrowded beaches on the Costa Tropical coast, yet also only 35 minutes drive from the historic city of Granada and the Alhambra Palace. What's more, the Sierra Nevada mountains (snow-capped and with ski-ing and winter sports available) and the Alpujarras (for walking and mountain villages) are both within easy reach.

An ideal holiday base for a family or holiday party with varied interests, or for relaxing into and enjoying Spanish village life. Plenty to see and do all year round!

Easily accessible from the UK to three local airports; Granada (under 1 hour's drive – Ryanair), Malaga and Almeria (around 2 hours—various budget airlines).

Your accommodation

Casa Buena Vista retains many original features including beams, fireplace, wooden shuttered windows and traditional decor. It will sleep 4 adults and 2 children, and has a washing machine, microwave, satellite TV (not Sky premium channels), DVD player and Playstation with selection of games.

You will, however, want to make as much use as possible of the roof-top terrace to enjoy the views over the adjacent citrus farm or down the valley towards the Sierra Nevada mountains. With snow on the peaks and oranges ripening on the trees, the views really are amazing in the winter!

Saleres

Casa Buena Vista is in Saleres, a small hillside farming village which has changed little over the years. The village is characterised by white walled houses lovingly tended by their owners, narrow attractive streets where you are more likely to meet a donkey than a car, and several viewpoints over the area.

Casa Buena Vista is peacefully located at the far end of the village, leaving you energised to enjoy walks from the door in the cooler climate or to explore the extensive attractions of this area of Spain. All the usual amenities are close at hand.

The Lecrin Valley

The hilly landscape is planted with orange, lemon, olive and almond trees, and huge Lake Beznar sits in the bottom of the valley. To complete this idyllic picture, white villages are dotted in the valley's nooks and crannies. A truly outstanding combination, especially with snow on the Sierra Nevada peaks.

The Sierra Nevada mountains and The Alpujarras

The Sierra Nevada mountains are snow-capped at this time of year, providing opportunities for winter sports (from skiing, through sledging to snow walking). These are available on ad hoc / as required basis, and guides are available. The views from the mountains are again truly incredible. For children, sledging at Hoya de la Mora whilst adults enjoy hot chocolate with Baileys from the café is a must!

Even closer are The Alpujarras, a range of smaller hills ideal for walking on the many paths, or just driving between the villages enjoying the dramatic locations, white houses, bars, restaurants and enticing shops selling local arts, crafts and produce to enjoy on your visit or upon your return home.
